

Food Specialties

NATIVE ASPARAGUS
DELAWARE BERRIES
GREEN PEAS
SUMMER SQUASH
WINE SAP
COOKING APPLES

SOMERS

Don't Make a Mistake

and overlook our stock of Carriages, Concord and Business Wagons. All work high grade, at medium prices. We are making a special drive on Carriages this year. Automobiles for rent. A few big bargains in used cars. Agent for Overland cars.

M. B. RING

Horseshoer and Repairer.

NOTICE

All persons desiring or intending to use hose for street, lawn, garden sprinkling, or for any other purpose, during the season of 1912, must first obtain a written permit from the office of the Board of Water Commissioners. Any person using hose without said written permit shall be fined $5. This rule will be strictly enforced.

GILBERT S. RAYMOND,
Clerk of the Board of Water Commissioners.

Next Sunday

We will Serve
Another Six o'Clock Dinner

Music by the Orchestra

WAUREGAN HOUSE

The Parker-Davenport Co., Proprietors.

Fertilizer
BEST IN TOWN
Agricultural
Lime

In quantities to suit you.

A. N. CARPENTER
23 Commerce Street

Telephone 171.

Another shipment here of those Democrat and Concord

CARRIAGES

See that 10.00 Bugzy Harness and we are showing six styles of

TEAM HARNESS

Clip your horse with a Stewart Clipper at $7.50.

We can sharpen the knives for your machine.

The L. L. Chapman Co.
14 Bath St., Norwich, Conn.

NOTICE

How to Lower the Price of Meat, Eat Plenty of

FRESH FISH

This is the Best Time of Year to Eat Fish.

NEW BLUES, PORGES, SHAD, BLACK, BUTTER, MACKEREL.

Real Every Day Fish at

POWERS BROS.

Tel. 114 and 777. 10 ROSE PLACE

Short Sea Trips

Norfolk, Old Point Comfort, Richmond, Baltimore, Washington, Bermuda, Savannah and the South.

To And From Europe

Canard White Star, Anchor, American, Red Star, French, Italian, North German Lloyd and other lines. Berths reserved in advance. Lowest rates.
Everything in ocean travel.

Full information of ## JOHN A. DUNN.

—Steamship and Tourist Agent—50 Main Street.

Supernumeraries on Duty.

Owing to the necessary attendance of Norwich policemen at the superior court session in New London Wednesday, there were some changes and substitutions on the beats on Wednesday evening.

Captain Linton desired not to return to duty Wednesday night, so that Policeman Doty took the desk at headquarters and Supernumerary Peter Triscott took his Broadway beat. Policeman Myron Morgan, who had been on for the day, had his place taken on the Franklin street beat at night by Supernumerary Divita, and Supernumerary O'Neill covered Policeman Mc-Fadden's West Side beat.

Sergeant Twomey had done continuous night and day service and his place was not filled.

When a knocker rings the elevator is always going down.

The Bulletin.

Norwich, Thursday, May 16, 1912.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Tomorrow, May 17th, will be the Norwegian Independence day.

Weather sharps will note conditions tonight, when the moon is new.

See the specials for Saturday at the Broadway Store, 47 Broadway—adv.

An attractive bed of pansies has been set out at the Central fire station.

Poultry owners find hawks unusually numerous and troublesome this spring.

There was much setting out of flowering and vegetable plants on Tuesday.

Wednesday's blifful sunshine encouraged the ice cream cone men to venture out.

The Society of Colonial Wars in Connecticut is to hold its annual court at New Haven May 28.

A carload of barrels has been sent from Norwich to New York this week, for use of a lobster agency.

A fine souvenir to every purchaser of 10 cents or more, on Saturday, at The Broadway Store, 47 Broadway—adv.

There will be celebration of the holy communion in the Episcopal churches this morning, Ascension day.

Fire wardens are urging deputies to utilize the telephone when possible to spread the alarm during forest fires.

Civic betterment organizations are urging the early use of fly traps as an aid to general health and cleanliness.

The new shelter at the entrance of the golf club grounds is covered and, given good weather, will be completed soon.

Towns in this section will be represented at the New England School Superintendents' association meeting in Boston Friday.

E. C. Jewett and Harry Stebbins leave today for New York to visit the Aero club show, where the Gallaudet monoplane is on exhibition.

Delegates from all the German Baptist churches in New England will assemble in New Britain for a convention on May 28, 29 and 30.

Shampooing manicuring, chiropody.
Appointments at your home. Agent for Scheffer's Hair Colorine. Katharine Lanz, room 22, Shannon Bldg.—
adv.

In a number of places the price for a day's teaming has been advanced from $5 to $6 per day, teamsters taking this action because of the high price of grain and value of horses.

The alterations and improvements at the Hotel Griswold will be completed by June 1. Two wings have been built on the kitchen and 300 ventilating doors have been added to the guest rooms.

Visitors to Webster on the N. & W. road state that engineers of the Grand Trunk railroad have engaged permanent quarters in that city, where plans for the construction of the road will be completed.

The trustees and visiting committee of the Connecticut Institute for the Blind have issued invitations for an exhibition of work done at the department of trades at Center church house in Hartford, Friday.

An examination will be held by the postoffice department at Bolton Notch on Saturday, June 8, to fill a continued vacancy in the post of fourth-class postmaster in that place. The post paid $183 last year.

Although the elm tree leaves are not all out yet, the elm leaf beetles have already appeared and are to be seen on the trees and in many houses. In some houses hundreds of the beetles are to be found in the attics.

L. S. Ingalls of Norwich, who had a sawmill and a crew of men at work in the W. H. Lee woodland in East Lyme, all the trees of any value belonging to lumber, has had the sawmill moved to another corner.

Capt. Frank Thompson, in Memorial hospital, New London, as a result of serious injuries received three weeks ago at Duck Island breakwater, is slowly recovering and wants very much to be taken home to Groton.

Chief Murphy, Sergeant Twomey and Policemen Maloney, Henderson and Matthews were all in New London on Wednesday in attendance at the session of the superior court for cases in which they were to be witnesses.

The governor has approved the requisition of the executive committee of the soldiers' hospital board on the sum of $10,000, to be used for the care of sick and wounded soldiers, sailors and marines of the civil war.

Friday will be celebrated as Peace day in many of the schools. The programmes will be arranged by the teachers in accordance with suggestions made in a little bulletin issued by the United States bureau of education.

The body of J. Osborne Faulkner, of Auburn, Me., who was drowned with T. P. Lovell April 28, was found in the Androscoggin river, Wednesday morning, near the Rabbit and dog dam, five miles above Lewiston and Auburn.

Dairy and Food Commissioner H. F.
Potter gave ten hearings Tuesday to drugists charged with violations of the pure drug law in having in their possession anafetida not up to the standard required by the U. S. pharmacopoeia.

In the drill hall at Fort Trumbull, the graduation of the school of instruction of the revenue cutter service was held. There were ten cadets in the class. Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, Capt. W. E. Jacobs and Rev. C. Saymour Bullock spoke to them.

Mrs. Sara T. Kinney, honorary state regent of the D. A. R., who has been on a trip to Panama, is to begin sittings in New York at once for the portrait which is to be painted for the state daughters and hung in the Ellsworth mansion at Windsor.

Twenty-three members of the Progressive Missionary club of the Central Baptist church attended Wednesday's meeting, held with Mrs. George E. Brooks, 73 Prospect street, Mrs. A.
T. (Uley) presiding. After sewing and reading, light refreshments were served.

Royal Arch Masons.

Grand High Priest William Jerome Bisbee, of the grand chapter, Royal Arch Masons, of Litchfield, made the following appointments: Grand Chaplain, Rev. Charles W. Boylston, Riverside grade at night, third veil. Master, H. George, Sandy Hook; grand master second veil, P. Leon Hitchins, Norwich; grand master first veil, Lee W. Reed, Hartford; grand senior warden, Henry E. Sweney, Windsor; grand scribe, William A. Durant, New Haven; committee on correspondence, George A. King, Norwich.

PERSONAL

Mrs. Luther R. Case is the guest of relatives in Thompson.

Miss May Palmer has returned to Jewett City after a short stay in Brooklyn.

Miss Edith A. Lane has returned after visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Lane of Mystic.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Carlisle of Norwich have opened their summer home at Gale's Ferry.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Branch of Norwich have been spending a few days at their cottage at Loris Point.

Mrs. Mary Dodge, who has been spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. T. Brand, at Norwich, has returned to Union.

Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts and family of Waterford are moving to Shaffordville. Mr. Roberts is employed as loom fixer in the Garland mill.

Frank B. Skelly, a student at the Baltimore medical college, has arrived for the home of his father, John Skelly of West Thames street, for the summer vacation.

Everett Engles of Norwich has entered the employ of a New Britain firm in the undertaking department.
He takes the place of Harold Dickinson, who has resigned, to go to New London to work.

SHOP TALK SERIES

CLOSED AT M'CRUM-HOWELL.

Rev. C. H. Ricketts Receives Gratifying Show of Appreciation—Seeking the Permanent, His Topic.

The shop talk Wednesday noon at the McCrum-Howell company plant closed for the season the series which has been conducted there under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., and the large number of men present gave pleasing recognition to the speaker, Rev. C. H. Ricketts of the Greenville Congregational church by giving him enthusiastic applause at the close of his talk and crowding around to shake his hand.

Two soprano solos, Ninety and Nine, and a May Morning, were sweetly sung by Mrs. George T. Lord, with Miss Elizabeth Crowe as the accompanist.

Seeking the Permanent was the subject for the closing talk by Rev. Mr.
Ricketts. He said in part:

There are more than a dozen subjects I would like to crowd into this concluding speech, but I must forego and call your attention to the importance of seeking the permanent.

Industrial Insecurity.

There are several reasons, men, why in this last talk, I should urge you to "set your house in order." In other words, seek the permanent security of the heavenly life, and first because of industrial insecurity.

Men, in the midst of your industrial insecurity why not grip him who is the "same yesterday, today and tomorrow?"

Political Situation Muddled.

I cannot remember a time when the political situation was so muddled and unsatisfactory as at present. I have never seen a time of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes of our citizens than at present. There seem to be no great political issues at stake between the two great parties.
The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes
of our citizens than at present. There
seem to be no great political issues at
stake between the two great parties.

The differences between these parties
are but a question of greater uncertainty and perplexity among all classes of our citizens than